Rain Wind and Snow

Well, we were expecting a bit of each, but all we got was a bit of drizzle! What to do when it's not wet enough to catch the rain, not windy enough to fly a kite and not snowy enough to investigate snowflakes? Build a shelter to protect us in case the weather changes of course!

Relationships

Teamwork is the name of the game when you're building a shelter. You need tall friends to reach up high, strong friends to carry and support and dexterous friends to tie knots.

Resilience

Things often go wrong when we're building or don't turn out as expected. But we don't let that stop us – we try again or find another way and our shelters always get finished in the end!

Respect

We have to look after our equipment as well so that it is ready for the next person to use. It is always sad to pack our amazing shelters away, but we are getting very good at folding tarpaulins and stowing ropes.

Our artists have been at it again – look what they created this week!
