Dig Dig Dig

It's that time of year when we need to get plants in the ground before it gets too hard to dig. At Freshwater, we are preparing to plant our new hedge. It's heavy work, but with everyone lending a hand, we've got the ground dug and free of weeds ready to plant next week.

There are lots of other jobs to do in the garden...

...bulb planting...

...weeding...

...raking.

Sometimes we find treasure! A sprouting walnut in its shell, a nasturtium seed, a mouse skull.

We always love a bit of den building and there is no end to the imaginative ways we use our resources.

The mud kitchen is a constant source of creativity. What have our chefs cooked up this week?

Some of us just need to make art inspired by the nature all around us.
